Subject: ALL HANDS: LOGCAP IV Announcement

By now I am sure you have all heard or read about the LOGCAP IV announcement. First I will tell you I was shocked when I received word last night that we had not been selected for any of the work in Afghanistan . Then I began to think about all we had accomplished over the years in Afghanistan and believe me I could talk about it for hours. All of you should be proud of the role played in those accomplishments. I know I am proud of the service and sacrifice all of you have made in support of this mission.

We now have another mission in front of us and that is transition. This transition will include all our missions in the South to DynCorp and all our missions in the North to Fluor. The transition covers 82 sites and all six task orders. We have not been informed how or what area the Government will want us to start in. The dust will have to settle and numerous meetings will be held before we have any idea of the Government plan.

I know most of you are concerned about what the future is for your continued employment. The one thing you must understand is we have to start transition before there are opportunities with other companies. Also this transition is going to be a very long drawn out process and during that process we have to provide the same level of service we always have. So every employee really needs to look at how much longer they need to be out here before their goals can be met.

We will be fielding questions and holding All Hands Meetings to help you stay informed of what is going on. We will tell you what we know as factual in a timely manner. I ask that you continue to focus on the mission at hand and providing the superb support to the Men and Women of the Armed Forces. I also ask that you think over your options and remember we have month's worth of work to accomplish.
